JETNET Completes 2nd Global Business Aviation Survey, Provides Update on JETNET iQ Summit

UTICA, NY – JETNET LLC, the world leader in aviation market intelligence, completed its 2nd Global Business Aviation Survey on May 16, on the eve of EBACE 2011, the European Business Aviation Convention and Exhibition. More than 500 business aircraft owners and operators from 57 countries participated in this latest JETNET iQ Global Business Aviation Survey. Survey topics included business aircraft purchase and selling intentions, purchase criteria and inhibitors to purchase, aircraft utilization patterns and intentions, OEM brand reputations, and desired product improvements.

“With JETNET iQ, we have raised the bar in business aviation market intelligence,” said Vincent Esposito, JETNET President. “Just as forward-looking cockpit technology has enhanced flight safety, JETNET iQ provides industry leaders with tools to look forward and navigate in these uncertain times.”

Paul Cardarelli, JETNET Director of Sales and Marketing, said, “New aircraft orders are the lifeblood of the industry. Preliminary results from our 2nd Global Business Aviation Survey are consistent with our prior intelligence. We expect net orders and aircraft utilization to be up significantly in 2011 and into 2012.”

JETNET also announced that registration is well underway for its JETNET iQ Global Business Aviation Summit, to be held June 6-7, 2011 in New York City under the banner of “Igniting Ideas. Provoking Change.” The Summit is the first to be organized under the auspices of JETNET iQ, JETNET’s forecasting and premium advisory service for business aviation launched in January 2011.

The Summit will focus on the economy, aircraft finance and capital markets, aerospace technology and design, talent, leadership, and customer insights. Key findings from JETNET iQ’s 2nd Global Business Aviation Survey will be presented, including forecasts for new and pre-owned business aircraft sales, aircraft utilization, and new aircraft deliveries. The Summit is being held at the InterContinental New York Barclay. Further details are available at JETNETiQ.com/summit.

“Now, with JETNET iQ, industry leaders have access to forward-looking intelligence to help them identify emerging opportunities—to help them know even more,” added Esposito.

Available on a members-only basis, JETNET iQ is a premium advisory service, and the latest in JETNET’s spectrum of products and services designed to help customers “Know More.” JETNET iQ has three main elements:
